GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

The Governor of Georgia Called Upon for Troops to Put Down a Band of Outlaws in [illegible] County.

[illegible], Oct. 13.—The judge of Baldwin county and a delegation of citizens reached [illegible] this morning to ask the governor for [illegible] force to suppress the Georgia Tigers, a [illegible] organization who hold possession [illegible] of the country. They killed two men [illegible] and burned several houses and have [illegible] in the past three years twenty men [illegible] mostly negroes. The governor [illegible] of his staff and a number of detectives [illegible] and will send the military if [illegible]. Members of the legislature in the [illegible] counties have been telegraphed for [illegible] families and have gone home. The [illegible] is intense. The scene of disorder is only one day's ride from here.

A Cheering Circumstance.

New York, Oct. 11.—The Times to-day says [illegible] longshoremen employed by most [illegible] steamship companies, have [illegible] that their wages be increased from 25 to [illegible] hour and that this request has [illegible]. The readiness with which the [illegible] managers grant the increase, is regarded as a proof of returning prosperity.

A Balloon Found.

[illegible], Wis., Oct 12.—A balloon was [illegible] evening on the Green Bay road, [illegible] north of Milwaukee. It came in [illegible] direction. Considerable [illegible] has been caused over the discovery [illegible] by some to be the "Path[illegible]" [illegible] basket had been cut off close to [illegible] balloon. There are no letters [illegible] on the canvas, although a [illegible] have been effaced, as it is in quite [illegible] condition. This can hardly be the [illegible], as similar balloons have been [illegible] in Wisconsin at county fairs.

Murder in Wisconsin.

[illegible] Oct. 12.—Judge Henry Hayden [illegible] county, a politician well [illegible] throughout the state and candidate [illegible] general on the greenback ticket [illegible], was shot and killed at Cen[illegible] last Thursday, by W. H. [illegible] cashier of the First National Bank. [illegible] grew out of an alleged intimacy on [illegible] Hayden with Cochrane's wife, the [illegible] one of long standing. Cochrane [illegible] from his wife some time [illegible] no divorce had been obtained. [illegible] used was a shotgun loaded with [illegible], the entire charge penetrating [illegible] of the victim, killing him in[illegible]. No words passed between them; so [illegible] that the killing was premeditated.

[illegible] Explosion.

[illegible] Oct. 10.—The explosion of a [illegible] robber works demolished [illegible] house and injured several [illegible]

The Memphis Plague.

[illegible] Oct. 12.—Twelve cases; total for [illegible] 71; to date, 1421; deaths to [illegible]

The New York Walk—Murphy Wins.

[illegible] Oct. 11.—To-night, at the close [illegible] of the O'Leary belt, the great [illegible] ended, about 8:30, when [illegible] little Brody, and great [illegible] clapping of hands succeeded as [illegible] to run to keep up with the [illegible]. Murphy went to his room at [illegible] 505 miles and one lap to [illegible] he re-appeared wearing [illegible] and rolling before Mahoney, [illegible] walked behind the boy [illegible] bearing the American flag, [illegible] the two laps were made, the band [illegible] cheering and poising hats, and [illegible] flowers upon the barrow and [illegible] to the boy. Murphy [illegible] and a little before 9 o'clock was [illegible] from the building to a hotel, [illegible] a bath and received the crowd [illegible] upon him.

A Miner Killed.

[illegible] Oct. 12.—A. P. Gallagher, a [illegible] Homestake open cut at Lead [illegible] to-day while descending. A [illegible] throwing him to the bottom of [illegible] was about 35 years of age, [illegible] from Nevada.

Another Collision.

[illegible] W. Va., Oct. 12.—A passenger [illegible] which left this city at 6:30 [illegible] evening, and the Baltimore ex[illegible] last night on the Baltimore railroad collided near Belton at [illegible] o'clock. Both trains were [illegible] rate of 40 miles an hour, and [illegible] with passengers, who mir[illegible] injury, with the exception [illegible] who was slightly hurt about [illegible] Askew, engineer, and John [illegible] of train No. 1, were instantly

WASHINGTON CITY.

Mitchell Interviewed—"Oregon [illegible] Wild for Grant"—[illegible] Statements.

[illegible] Oct. 12.—The National Re[illegible] to-day publishes a column and a [illegible] with ex-Senator Mitchell, de[illegible] to his views of the real in[illegible] and ultimate political significance [illegible] reception on the Pacific slope. [illegible] informed the interviewer that the [illegible] and especially Oregon, is wild [illegible] Grant, and that his observation [illegible] weeks' journey to Washington [illegible] and subsequently in New [illegible] east, convinced him that the [illegible] of the three most promin[illegible] mentioned for the republican [illegible] nomination, are the same [illegible] the whole country, as he found [illegible] the Pacific coast, namely: [illegible] Blaine a strong second and Sher[illegible] third. Mitchell also predicted [illegible] would be nominated by acclama[illegible] that nothing will prevent [illegible] an unqualified and positive de[illegible] Grant that he will, under no [illegible] accept a nomination, and I [illegible] too deep a sense of gratitude to [illegible] party and country, which [illegible] him so highly, to decline to [illegible] if they desire his services. Mit[illegible] to several Oregon cases be[illegible] the supreme court.

A Sad Mission.

[illegible], Oct. 10.—Ralph Meeker, son [illegible] Meeker, the late Indian agent at the [illegible] agency, has been appointed [illegible] of the department of the interior [illegible] purpose of visiting the White river [illegible] earliest practicable day and re[illegible] bodies of his father and such [illegible] may have been killed. Mr. [illegible] will also gather up the papers, etc., [illegible]. He starts to-night for Rawlins.

[illegible] Supply of Arms.

[illegible], Oct. 11.—Merritt has twelve [illegible] of all arms, amply sufficient, Sher[illegible] thinks, to suppress the hostile Indians.

Indians Peaceable.

[illegible] was received at the Indian [illegible] from Salt Lake City, from E. H. Par[illegible] saying: "I left Uintah agency Sunday. [illegible] Critchlow desired me to inform you [illegible] Indians were well disposed and re[illegible] at the agency."

Decision Affirmed.

Washington, Oct. 12.—The secretary of the interior to-day affirmed the decision of the general land office in the case of Henry [illegible] vs. the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, awarding certain lands in Los Angeles district to the company.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

The Afghanistan War.

[illegible], Oct. 10.—Gen. Gough will be established at Jellalabad by Monday. Col. Jen[illegible] will push forward to Gundamuk with [illegible] detachment in order to establish com[illegible] with Sir Frederick Roberts. The difficulties of transportation have been [illegible], and troops of all arms are moving [illegible] from all the columns to support Gen. [illegible]. A telegram yesterday stated that Gen. Hughes had halted fourteen miles be[illegible] Khelat Ighilzoi because the country [illegible] of supplies.

The Last Skirmish.

[illegible], Oct. 12.—Sir Frederick Roberts tele[illegible] Monday's affair the enemy was [illegible] so that the Ghilzais and other [illegible] could attack his flank and rear, [illegible] Afghan regiments opposed [illegible] Cabul. Twenty guns, instead [illegible] captured Monday morning; [illegible] have been captured thus [illegible] hopes to be able to re-

[illegible] in a few days.

Beauty Slandered.

London, Oct. 12.—In the Guildhall police court to-day Mrs. Langtry, the famous London beauty, charged Rosenberg, proprietor of the Town Talk, with stating that she was in the habit of calling on photographers and asking for commissions on the sales of her photographs. Her husband testified that this was untrue. He declared that he had done all in his power to prevent the sale of his wife's photographs. Mrs. Langtry also charged Rosenberg with stating that her husband had filed a petition for divorce, coupling the names of the Prince of Wales, Lord Londesborough and Lord Lonsdale as correspondents in the action. Her husband testified that these statements were untrue. He said that he lived with his wife, and had never thought of filing a petition for divorce. Rosenberg was remanded in default of bail.

Export of English Iron to America.

London, Oct. 12.—During last week 5000 tons of iron have been shipped from the river Dees to the United States. Shipments have hitherto consisted almost exclusively of Cleveland pig iron, but five hundred tons puddled bars are included. The orders now executing amount to forty five thousand tons of pig iron. There are also three orders for puddled bars and manufactured iron, and others for scrap and sheet iron. The recent rise in prices checked orders for a time, but inquiries are now renewed and additional American orders are expected.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

Rain in California.

San Francisco, Oct. 12.—Yesterday and to-day rain has fallen throughout the state except in the extreme northern counties. The southern portion of the state has had from half an inch to an inch. The fall was lighter in the central and northern counties. Some slight damage to feed, volunteer and early sown grain and grain stacked awaiting transportation is reported.

Flood's Obstinacy.

San Francisco, Oct. 11.—In the case of J. H. Burke against J. C. Flood, the Nevada Bank and the estate of W. S. O'Brien, an order was to-day made by Judge Thornton that Flood show cause next Friday why he should not be committed for contempt of court in refusing to answer questions put by plaintiff's counsel on examination before a notary public.

Mysterious Murder.

San Francisco, Oct. 12.—George Howard, an expressman, residing at 745 California street, about 8:30 o'clock was found dead at the foot of the stairs, stabbed to the heart. As his watch and chain and some money were found on him, it is supposed that robbery was not the object of the deed. His room was found to be undisturbed. The affair is mysterious. He was chiefly employed with his wagon by Chinese, and is supposed to have had considerable money somewhere.

A Drunken Woman Burned to Death.

Stockton, Oct 10.—The dwelling house of James O'Neil, half a mile from the city, was destroyed by fire last night. The wife of O'Neil was drunk and unable to escape, and so burned to death. O'Neil was found leaning against the fence, also intoxicated. It is supposed that the fire was caused by the bursting of a coal oil lamp.

A Workingman Wants a Recount.

San Francisco, Oct. 11.—W. N. Staley, the workingmen's defeated candidate for superintendent of streets, has filed a petition for a recount, alleging misconduct and negligence in the conduct of the election and counting of votes.

Accidental Death.

San Francisco, Oct. 11.—Colonel Wm. B. Johnston, resident secretary of the London & Liverpool & Globe Insurance Co., was thrown from a buggy at San Rafael yesterday and died this morning.

A Good Showing.

The National Gold Bank & Trust Co., which decided forty days ago to go into liquidation, has paid up its depositors in full, and Monday next will pay the stockholders a dividend of ten per cent. on its capital.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Another Favorable Report from the Skagit Mines—A Rush Begins.

Seattle, Oct. 11.—E. B. Ebey arrived here last evening from the headwaters of the Skagit, bringing several specimens of quartz from a recently discovered lead, which assays as high as $635 per ton. It is now generally believed that the Skagit mines are not only rich but very extensive. A large number will leave on outgoing steamers Monday morning for the diggings, although it is not likely that they can accomplish much until spring.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

A Fine New Steamer.

Victoria, Oct. 12.—The name of the new steamship now on the way from England for this port is the Hilton Castle. She is a splendid iron propeller of 1800 tons, and will run between San Francisco and Departure Bay via Victoria. She is owned by Dunsmuir & Diggle of the Wellington mine, and will touch at San Francisco before coming on to Victoria.

Shipping News.

The steamer Etta White arrived in the Royal Roads last evening from Burrard Inlet, having in tow the bark Orzero, laden with lumber from Moody & Co.'s mill, and bound for Iquique. The Orzero will proceed to sea early next week.

The steamer Alexander arrived at Nanaimo at 2 o'clock on Thursday afternoon with the ships Gold Hunter and Castine, and the bark Monsana; and is now on her way down from Burrard Inlet with the ship Elvira Dovale, laden with lumber from Moodyville, and bound for South America.

The steamer Beaver leaves Departure Bay to-day with the bark Capera, laden with Wellington coal for San Francisco.

Cotsford's Boat.

A telegram was forwarded on Thursday last to the Hanlan club, Toronto, giving instructions to at once forward the shell for Wm. Cotsford, the champion sculler of this province. It is expected that the boat will arrive here about November 10th.

Vessel Ashore.

The steam yacht Iris went ashore at Cadboro Bay last night during a gale. All hands saved, and the vessel will be got off.

A PROSPEROUS PROVINCE.

Statement of the Business of British Columbia for the Past Quarter—A Great Gain over the Same Period of 1878.

Victoria, Oct. 11.—The value of exports for the last quarter aggregate $817,134, divided as follows: The mines, $546,041; the fisheries, $89,662; the forest, $75,437; animals and their produce, $70,777; total, $781,917; goods not the produce of the province, $35,117; grand total, $817,134.

There was a decrease in the exports for the quarter as compared with the exports for the three months ending September 30, 1878, of $291,118. This may mainly be attributed to the fact that during the September quarter of 1878 the exports from the fisheries represented a total value of $452,185, whereas for the corresponding period of the present year the value of exports from the same source is only $89,662. This deficit however, will be largely counterbalanced by the shipments of salmon to be made to the United Kingdom and elsewhere during the present month.

The produce of the mines for the three months just terminated shows an increase of $43,673, attributable to the increased output of coal, the yield for the quarter of 1879 being 54,405 tons, valued at $181,523, as compared with 36,075 tons, valued at $126,523 for the same period of 1878. There is, however, a decrease of $8,537 in the produce of the forests, the total value of exports for the quarter of 1878 being $84,024, against $75,473 for the same quarter of 1879. Under the head of "Animals and their Products," there is an increase of nearly $6,000, and under the head of "Goods not the Produce of the Province," it will be observed that there is a difference of $31,091, the increase in favor of the 1879 quarter being accounted for by the shipment of several large quantities of opium valued at $30,000. The agricultural exports are very trifling for the September quarter of 1879, their estimated value being only $595, and for the three months just terminated they have represented a sum too small to be worthy of especial mention.

NEVADA.

The Nevada Strike.

Virginia City, Oct. 11.—The Nevada crosscut is reported this afternoon to be one-half in ore on the west side. Operations have been stopped to timber the ground. It will run sixty feet in Sierra Nevada before reaching the line of good ore.

THE MICHIGAN DISASTER.

COMPLETE LIST OF THE DEAD AND WOUNDED.

No More Deaths Likely to Occur—A Coroner's Jury Decides that the Fault Lies with the Men in Charge of the Switch Engine.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Detroit, Oct. 11.—The following are additional particulars of the great railway disaster. The first passenger coach was crowded against the embankment and crashed back through the two following. Passengers in the first coach were comparatively unharmed, the harvest of death being reaped in the second and third coaches. The fourth coach escaped with slight damage and none of the Wagner coaches were injured. As near as can be ascertained the accident was caused by the switchman having making up of freight train at Jackson Junction occupying the main track with a switch engine and caboose understanding that the Pacific express was considerably behind time. The express train, however, had made up nearly all lost time.

Detroit, Oct. 12.—The following is a correct list the persons killed and wounded by the Michigan Central railway disaster so far as known up to noon to-day: Killed, Milton Gilbert, engineer, of Detroit; Christopher B. Smith, fireman of Detroit; W. J. Rice, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Elizabeth Rice, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Mary Gartland, of Philadelphia; Annie Gartland, aged 10 of Philadelphia; Mrs. Catherine Spardane of Westminster; Edith Spartlane, aged 6 and Marian Spartlane, aged 4; Wm. G. Elkins of Lowell, Mass.; Moses Green, of Troy, Vt.; Louis Morgan of Buckingham Canada; infant daughter of Mrs. George Jones, of Shenandoah, Pa., 18 months old; unknown man, evidently a Canadian, 25 years old, five feet six inches in height, short black hair, smooth face, dressed in gray checkered suit; unknown man, about 40 years of age, prominent Roman nose, black moustache, initials "G. E. R." wrought on right wrist, supposed to have been a sailor.

The wounded are thirty-one: Milton D. Carlisle, express messenger, of Detroit; A. A. Bennett, baggage man, of Detroit; Wm. Buzzy, of Troy, Vermont, on the way to California; Dan'l Finn, of Chicago; S. M. Sparlin, of Philadelphia; Arthur Rogers, of Philadelphia; Reuben Carter, of England, en route to Gardner, Illinois; Geo. A. Cunningham, of Janesville, Wisconsin; John Jeffreys, of Newark, N. J.; Robert Neild, of Burlington; Leopold Hoffman, on the way from Randolph (Mass.) to St. Paul; Henry Burrows of Newfoundland, Penn.; H. C. Long, of Altoona, Iowa; Aug. Schleugheyde, from Hamburg en route to San Francisco; Wm. M. Murchie of Inverness, Ont.; Henry Burns, of Newfoundland, Penn.; W. A. Brinny, of Galt, Ont; Gilbert Benjamin, of Jersey Heights, N. J.; David Cavert, of Seneca county, N. Y.; H. Desmaisonaw, of Anger, Ont; Palmot Desmaisonaw, of Anger, Ont; J. E. Barnell of Bangor, Mich.; Mrs. E. J. Parnell, of Bangor, Mich., on the way from St. Catherines, Ont.; Mrs. J. F. Parnell, of St. Paul, en route from Toronto; Mrs. A. W. Steele, of Detroit; Mrs. Thos. Clement, of Lockport, N. Y.; May Wiltimore, Mrs. Clements' grand daughter, slight; Mrs. R. B. Hart, of Clinton, Iowa; Mrs. Geo. U. Jones, Shenandoah; Albert Jones, aged six; Willie Rice, of Philadelphia, aged four.

The wounded are all doing well, and no more deaths are likely to occur. The best of care is being bestowed upon them by the railway company. Seriously injured—King near Boylan escaped injury by jumping from his engine before the trains came together. A boy named Flanigan, fifteen years of age, who was stealing a ride, was instantly killed; a negro boy, who was stealing his way to Clarksburg between the tender and postal car, was seriously injured; George Skinn, postal clerk on train No. 10, was seriously injured, and was taken to his home at Fairmont, Va., where he now lies in a critical condition. The postal and baggage cars of both trains are also total wrecks. The accident was caused by some misunderstanding of telegraph orders.

Placing the Blame.

An investigation before a coroner's jury composed of leading citizens of Jackson has been in progress all the forenoon, taking evidence of railway officials and employes. It seems from their testimony that Colwell, the yardmaster; Sawyer the switchman, and Jones, the engineer of the switch engine, are all alike responsible, and that all were guilty of bad judgment and violation of the rules of the company.

THE WASHINGTON LEGISLATURE.

[SPECIAL REPORT FOR THE OREGONIAN.]

Olympia, Oct. 10, 1879.

The mountain refusing to come to Mahomet, Mahomet has, of old, decided to go to the mountain. In other words, the legislature has resolved to visit Vancouver in a body, accompanied by the governor and secretary, and there to cordially welcome our wandering lieutenant and the world's present hero to the territory. Having been informed that it was impossible for the general to visit us, and desiring that our great territory should not alone be remiss in proving to Gen. Grant and to the country at large our appreciation of his services and of our desire to do him honor, this step has been decided upon. In the house the sentiment upon the resolution was almost unanimous, Mr. Smith, of King, opposing solely upon the ground that the time could illy be afforded from a session limited to 40 days. White, Perkins, Percival and Taylor spoke in its favor. In the council it met with more opposition, and for the same reason above given. Messrs. Cook and McGlynn leading the opposition, though upon its final passage a very general feeling of satisfaction prevailed.

House.

In the house, Mr. Taylor, chairman on joint committee on mileage, reported $1800 14 due the members of the present legislature. The member drawing the largest mileage received $158 76; the one drawing the smallest received 29 cents: report adopted.

Mr. Taylor introduced an act to change the time of holding courts in the 1st judicial district; first reading, laid on table.

Mr. Perkins claimed the floor and introduced the same bill; first reading laid on table.

Mr. Perkins introduced a bill authorizing the payment of the traveling expenses of the district judges; first reading.

Mr. Ward introduced a bill appropriating $2000 for the territorial university and providing for five scholarships therein, giving to each member of both houses the right to nominate one candidate, to the judges the right to nominate two, and to the governor five, and providing for their traveling expenses; first reading.

Mr. Snyder introduced a bill amending the present lien law: first reading.

Mr. Percival introduced a bill to reimburse Stevens county for freight and charges on arms during the late Indian war.

Mr. Guernsey introduced a bill to prevent the spread of scab and other diseases among sheep; first reading.

The governor's message was then taken up in detail and its suggestions acted upon by reference to appropriate committees.

A communication was then read from Portland, inviting the governor and legislature to unite with the citizens of that city in welcoming U. S. Grant; accepted.

Mr. Perkins offered a joint resolution that a committee of eight be appointed—five on part of the house and three on part of the council—to consider that portion of the message relating to legislative apportionment; passed.

Mr. Frary introduced a bill amending an act relative to crimes and punishments. This is an important bill, and provides that upon acquittal upon plea of insanity the judge shall have power to send dangerous persons to the asylum.

Mr. Frary also introduced a supplemental bill to the above—that parties now in custody, having been adjudged by a jury to be insane, be removed to the insane asylum.

Mr. Dewar introduced an act to prevent gambling.

Mr. Storms introduced an act for the better protection of bridges.

Mr. Guernsey introduced an act to compensate certain officers in Columbia county.

Mr. Frary introduced an act in relation to crimes and punishments and procedure in criminal cases.

Adjourned until Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

IN THE COUNCIL.

Mr. Tullis introduced an act to change the name of the county seat of Lewis county from Saundersville to Chehalis; referred and reported back favorably.

Mr. Dunbar introduced an act changing the time of holding courts in the first judicial district; referred.

Mr. Dunbar introduced an act providing for the payment of traveling and necessary expenses of the district judge while on circuit; referred.

Invitation from Portland accepted.

Adjourned until Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

THE COMING OF GRANT.

An Address on the Event by Rev. T. L. Eliot.

[illegible] SUNDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1879.

It is not fit to pass by that toward which the thoughts of our people will converge with more interest and enthusiasm than they have upon any other specific subject during the past decade. I therefore offer you some reflections upon the coming ovation and the honored recipient of them, and hope to suggest the theme in its moral aspects and bearings upon the welfare of the country and its citizens.

And first of ovations in general—movements of the popular mind and heart towards a common object of respect and love, it may be said that their influence is beneficial upon the people themselves. For they are a fountain head of good will, and in general appeal to the best motives and highest ideals of mankind. Especially in a nation where the tendency to individualism or provincialism is great, where the common bond lies loosely at times and patriotism is biased or sectional, we cannot too much be called upon to yield to a common impulse of enthusiasm. It is good at times to escape the spirit of isolation and reserve; it is well to glow with a common impulse. The warmth of feeling does not diffuse itself wholly in the processions and swaying throngs of the transient hour, but leads a kindly and kindling influence to the working days of citizen duties and responsibilities in a common country. In former ages of history it is true that such demonstrations became a popular dissipation. The masses grew uneasy without an idol, and in their general ignorance and low intellectual state the emotional elements of character became unduly prominent. Whatever personage won the passing breeze of popular feeling became, for the time, an exclusive object, and there ensued inevitably violent reactions and swift uprootings—to be followed by as swift and passionate idolatries for new objects. The great and good, as well as the rash and selfish, not unfrequently found themselves to-day worshiped as demigods, only to be dashed aside to-morrow into infamy and neglect as heedlessly as a wornout or wounded beast of burden. Thus the vicissitudes of popular favor point the reflections of the philosophers and moralists in every age. But a diffused civilization like ours is exposed to a different danger. Our peril is that we see everything in so bald and cold a light that we never surrender ourselves to generous enthusiasm. The intellectualism of the age sends a critical and hesitating doubt to dog the footsteps of every national popular impulse, and in our vivid impression of the foibles of this common humanity, we suffer ourselves to discredit its heroic side. We yield a reluctant praise to virtues and sacrifices and the greater qualities that distinguish one hero or there from among his fellow-men.

The present ovation derives peculiar character, as we all know, from a combination of causes, which make it significant and exceptional in American history and it is worth our while, familiar as they may be to our ears to rehearse these causes. We are receiving as a guest, the man who more than any other achieved the swift end of rebellion and civil war. We are welcoming one who twice by the suffrage of America, has occupied a place, more puissant than the world's thrones, the place of executive in the federal republic. We are extending our hospitality to one who has been passing through the nations and civilizations of a hemisphere and received honors such as no citizen or prince of any land save America could have received, honors dictated by no fear, favor or hope of reward—and which our country has felt were chiefly pointed by the sense of mankind as the place of America among nations and in history. These converge, therefore, upon this event the elements of a personification of the nation. In him the republic of America unconsciously saluted the world and upon him as representing America, Europe and Asia have freely chosen to lay their tribute and took the hour and the man as furnishing the happy occasion for them to dignify themselves by creating him America's embassador of all that is best in American civilization.

They caught the suggestion in the air, the eminent fitness of seizing the visit of a quiet traveler as the opportunity for wafting round the world a world's message of peace and goodwill to the youngest nation of the race. And swiftly responsive to the sentiment, America receives the traveler with his unsought honors thick upon him, as personifying the cordiality of the old world to the new. Part of the welcome he has, is a nation's responsive courtesy to nations. We say welcome because of the world's olive branch. We accept the happy auguries you bring of international comity. We desire the echo of our receivings of you to reach back again to the hospitable shores of Europe and India and China. The hail with which we greet the ship that bears you, we wish to have carried back to Englishman and Frenchman, German and Russian, Turk and Japanese as our thanks for what they think of us and so gracefully express welcome doubly ours since in you the world has done honor to our whole land and made us feel prouder and more grateful for our country—ours and yours."

The spontaneous welcome and ovations that await General Grant as the nation's guest have another significance, which is like the one just named, partly unconscious and partly developed in the national mind. His name stands vividly for the country's dark hour, and we typify in him the providential aspects of the experience which gave us after an exhausting and bloody strife, a consolidated national existence. It will be ill with America when the memory of the civil war ceases to awaken a thrill of patriotism and gratitude. Our young men and women shall be poorly furnished for citizenship, if left in ignorance of the agonies and fears that convulsed us through four long and weary summers and winters and the farther we stand from that time of peril, the more significantly should its outlines loom in the landscape of our history, as a beacon and warning to generations. Mankind is happily constituted to forget its toil when the object of that toil is achieved. The travail over, we rejoice that truth is born, that a righteous cause lives. Yet there is an instinct that loves tremblingly to rehearse the day of trial, a sentiment that feels it a fit thing to restore in fancy the bewildering pain and desolation in which the soul has stood, and a moral sense that desires to weave the iron of bloody remembrance into experience, stiffening the spirit of watchfulness for signs in the sky or on the wave through which the nation drives its course. Do not that moral sense and instinct need to be fostered in heaping America? Shall our children hear of the great rebellion as dimly as many of us remember the shameful and pitiful raid upon Mexico? The hour is opportune in which to tell the rising generation all that civil war meant, all that it cost, and to what and whom under God we owe the happy event. May the impulse that sends out throngs of children to meet the honored leader of our armies fix forever in their waxen thoughts the holiest of moral lessons the spirit of patriotic self-sacrifice, and a sense of the dignity it is to live in a land where, for an idea, men have laid down their lives in countless thousands and spilt their treasures like dust. The nation cannot do too much in institutions, in monuments, in art, in song, in memorial days, to perpetuate the moral in all its length and breadth; and it cannot do too much to make the names of even the poorest soldiers who suffered for our sake sound sweetly in the ears of this people from generation unto generation. There is a monument in Cambridge erected to the memory of Harvard students who fell in the war, which I could wish every child in our land might see, and happy are the boys and girls who, month after month, and year after year, living and playing about it, shall pause first in childish familiarity and wonder, and later with kindling aspiration, before its granite blocks. It simply represents a soldier of the rank and file, clad in his long military cloak, standing upon sentry duty. Not a line in the statue but speaks out the calm, resolute watchfulness and heroism of a patriot heart; living or dying, advancing or retreating, answering the roll call under the heavy morning mist, or stretched in sleepless agony in the hospital tent splashing in the mud of a forced march, or perishing with a hot life wound, called to the humdrum duty of guarding a distant post, or joining in the eagle scream of victory, that soldier, the common soldier of the Union, is after all the grandest figure in all our history. And may we not, in the welcoming notes which shall swell the breeze and wave the banner of the great republic before the leader of armies, feel that in him is represented not only leadership, but the soldiers who were led, may not the laurels scattered in his pathway symbolize a nation's gratitude to the last and least servant to the cause of freedom and national truth whose dust may at this hour lie in a nameless grave, or who living, may be a toiler in humble obscurity at his work bench or in the harvest fields. When America forgets that service, it will be time for the angel with the torch reversed to stand upon its name, and the ghost of free institutions shall wander homeless on the earth!

We have said this much of our guest, in his representative character, because this is at once the major key of a nation's welcome and it is the role in which he himself would choose to appear as the bearer of a world's message of good will to America, as witness to the nation's sense of self-sacrifice and to the national integrity which rose like a phoenix from the ashes of war. As personating the army of the republic and the dignity of twice borne executive headship, what wonder that his return to our shores awaken the most spontaneous ovations, and the heartfelt cordiality of the continent? He who should stand aside, or sneer, or raise the jarring note of criticism at a time like this, would quarrel with the litter of rose leaves in a lovely garden and mar his morning breakfast by complaining of the meadow larks that woke him with their anthem to the rising sun!

There are discriminating lessons to be drawn from the personal qualities of General Grant, which it will not be inopportune to rehearse, for they have a moral bearing and throw light upon the wants and characteristics of the nation. As we pass in thought from the representative of ideas to the man, we discover traits and a combination of attributes, conspicuous, in the main, by the contrast they make with the average American standard. When we idealize, there is a law of mind by which we respect the very opposite of that which we do. The national sin is pretentiousness and self-assertion, a sin which always trenches upon action. Therefore we admire reticence, unpretentiousness and modesty, and a character in which action outstrips words. It is a national fault to scatter and dissipate resources, and we therefore honor one who possesses in a high degree the genius of combination. Nationally, as is the case with all boasters, we are indecisive and unstable and lack the courage of our convictions. We therefore honor the man who possesses these characteristics. Nationally we are biased by success and worship it, but for that very reason the conscience in us frames an ideal in which constancy and fortitude ride over all failure and seize the moment of general despair to traverse vicissitude with the faith of prompt action. Nationally we are tending to chicanery and intrigue. Therefore we reverence directness and an honest adjustment of means to ends. Nationally we take snap judgments, and so like the man who is swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath. The possession of such qualities is not inconsistent with faults, and indeed there is no strong character in which at times there may not come bias and an intensity that blinds. But the man who has convinced his countrymen, of every party and section, of the honesty and sincerity of every act in his official life, who is moved little by flattery less by criticism and least of all by external failure; who can keep his counsel, whose genius took in complex situations and saw in each the moment for decisive action—who could be a Massena at Donelson and a Fabius before Richmond—who could order Sheridan to lay waste the valley of Virginia and send the forlorn hope of the confederacy home from Appomattox, conquered but without a disgrace—who began the war suspecting whether he was fit to command a thousand men, and ended it by moving five grand armies in strategic harmony—who in the cabinet could find and keep the delicate line between his civil and his military duty, and in the executive chair veto inflation, break the gold ring, arbitrate with England at Geneva, fend off war when the Virginius was captured, and seat his successor in peace, can, after the fiercest collision of party strife ever known, afford to face the record in which errors and mistakes indeed occur, but were perhaps incident and inevitable to adjustment of problems such as never faced a people before in the history of civil liberty.

America has really only one higher dignity to offer General Grant, and he has but to seize one more decisive moment in order to make that dignity his. Of military glory he has surely had enough; the burdens and exaltations of executive power and influence have been sustained with equanimity and patience, with decision and sincerity, but he is sincere in not seeking them again. The dignity then America has to offer is that of First Citizen in the Nation—the dignity of one to whom his people will look in the walks of daily life for such a part as the Father of the Country once took in private life at Mt Vernon; the place of counsellor and watchman; whose sword shall rest above the fireside of home until the crisis of history may call it from the sheath and its owner shall be summoned to answer a nation's cry against some foreign or domestic foe. God grant the day of hardship and war may never come again—but if it must be, may God give us again a leader of armies who shall so bear his faculties with meekness, be clear in his great office; one that can be terrible, and magnanimous, and who above the clash of camps and battlefield can keep the aspiration of justice and peace!

Republican Victory in Colorado.

Denver, Oct. 8.—The election in this state yesterday was for supreme judge and county officers. The day passed very quietly, not more than half the vote being polled. Returns come in very slowly. The indications are that the republicans have carried everything. Ex-Gov. Routt, chairman of the republican state committee, estimates the majority for Beck for supreme judge at nearly 5000, a gain of 2000 over last year's vote. In Arapahoe county the republicans have elected every man, as also in Gilpin, Weld and Larimer. In Las Animas the democrats fall behind last year's vote about 200. There was little interest in the contest, as the state ticket contained but one name, that of Beck.

Cause and Effect.

New York, Oct. 8.—The Times says: The land trouble in England, has taken the bulk of the people by surprise. It may be safely asserted that not one proprietor in one hundred saw in the announcement in the London Times of May, 1869, that a train had run through from New York to San Francisco, any sort of connection between that fact and the terribly diminished rental in 1879.

Gov. Thayer has recently granted the following commutations of sentences of convicts in the penitentiary: J. W. Trent, convicted in Multnomah county of the crime of larceny and sentenced January 9, 1879, to one year's imprisonment; George Johnson, sentenced for one year for larceny, November 6, 1878, from Multnomah county.

DR. MINTIE'S "SPECIAL" MEDICINES

Are made from the best materials obtainable. They are not cure alls. They are favorite prescriptions that have been tried and tested for years in his extensive practice, until now they are absolutely perfect in the troubles for which they are recommended.

The NEPHRETICUM works wonders in Kidney and Bladder complaints. Those suffering with Dropsy, Bright's disease, Diabetes, Gravel, Retention of urine, Pain in the back, Incontinence, or any disease of the Kidney and Bladder, will be astonished at the relief one bottle will afford.

For Female weakness it is absolutely without an equal.

For all derangements of the Liver

WAITING FOR GRANT.

Grant has been called our Cæsar. But he returns from foreign lands not to meet hostility, gathered armies and fierce battles, nor to plunge as a partisan into the war of political factions. If, since his return, his name has been coupled with any political scheme, no one can say that it has been of his seeking. Our people are about to welcome him as an eminent citizen who has served his country in the highest stations, military and civil; and no one among us will permit any political or partisan feeling to obtrude itself on the occasion. General Grant was here twenty-six years ago. His return no doubt is mainly due to an interest in the northwest which survives in his recollections of his sojourn here many years ago. The welcome which greets him here will go therefore beyond the formal welcome accorded to an illustrious guest. He visits a locality which receives him as an old acquaintance, and the fact that he was on duty here, though long ago, adds familiarity to his visit in the general mind, as doubtless it will in his own.

If our greeting of General Grant is less showy than that accorded him at San Francisco, it will not be less cordial and generous. All are entitled to take an interest in his arrival among us, because his achievements and his fame may justly be called the property of the whole people. He has permitted no crowd of intriguers to claim him, and in the receptions he has so far received all manner of politicians and politics have been happily conspicuous by their absence. It is his great and acknowledged services, beyond the power of envy to decry, which bring to him this universal tribute from his countrymen. It is, on their part, a wholly sincere and disinterested welcome. If there be any interested intriguers or "boomers," let them slink out of sight, as they must, before his unobtrusive common sense and a generous popular enthusiasm.

POLITICAL DRIFT.

In several of the great states there is now a degree of political activity which is not surpassed even when a presidential election is pending. Ohio was never, perhaps, more thoroughly canvassed than it has been during the last two months. Both parties are putting forth uncommon exertions. The unknown quantity is the vote of the nationals or greenbackers. Should it be cast mainly for the democratic candidates there would be strong probability of democratic success. But should the greenbackers stick to their own ticket, there could be no doubt of a sweeping republican victory. Republicans do not hope to get any part of the greenback vote, but they do naturally feel an interest in seeing it withheld from the democrats. The legislative districts have been so gerrymandered as to give the democratic party an immense advantage in the contest for control of that body. Last year though the republicans had a plurality of nearly 11,000 on the congressional vote of the state, yet the democrats got a majority of the members; and as the congressional districts were gerrymandered for that election, so the legislative districts have been "fixed" for this. Unless the republicans have a majority for their general ticket mounting up towards 20,000, it is considered very doubtful whether they will get a majority in the legislature. Thurman's friends are making a mighty effort to prevent him from being engulfed in political oblivion, as he would be should his party lose both their state ticket and the legislature. To-morrow the election will be held.

In New York it is a contest to the death between two democratic factions. Each has staked its all upon an effort to crush the other. Tammany is determined to destroy Tilden, and Tilden is equally determined to destroy Tammany. It is admitted that John Kelly holds the balance of the great Tammany vote, and that all efforts to shake it have so far been vain. Late dispatches report the Herald as declaring that if Kelly accomplishes all he aims at in this election, Tilden will be an impossible candidate, since Kelly's ability to [illegible] Robinson would be regarded as proof that he had the ability and will to defeat Tilden. The Sun says: "We expect to see John Kelly poll a large vote, but it seems to us that it will be like the last exercise of Samson's strength. The pillars and a man of giant strength will fall together in one common ruin. The defeat of Robinson and the final destruction of Tammany will be linked together in one common event." The World and Brooklyn Eagle, on the contrary, have no fears of such a result, and confidently believe that Robinson will be chosen over Cornell, even without the usual great democratic majority thrown in the city. Still another account says Tilden is not hopeful of the result; but he does expect now to destroy the power of Tammany, and though his presidential hopes may be annihilated through this warfare, he will consider the destruction of his Tammany enemies as some equivalent. A most singular thing in this fight is the attitude of the World. It is unsparing in its condemnation of both Tilden and Tammany, and yet supports with great earnestness Tilden's man Robinson. It represents Tilden as determined to ruin the party if he cannot rule it, and asserts that his great champion, Montgomery Blair, is going about declaring openly that if Tilden is not nominated again for the presidency he will play over again the part played by Van Buren in 1848.

There can be no doubt that Tilden recently declared that southern lawlessness and repudiation were doing the democratic party immense injury in the north, and that in consequence it had become extremely doubtful whether the party could elect any candidate next year. This has enraged southern leaders, who say that he need not trouble himself about democratic weakness north or wickedness south, since he will not be again called on to lead the party. But he is not troubled by any threat of this kind, as he knows that he can have the nomination if he wants it. If he thinks fit to be a bidder nobody can bid with any success against him. There is not another candidate whose "resources" equal his own, and he knows that at his call the boys will rally round the bar'l, [illegible] the battle cry of Tilden.

In Iowa and Missouri the United States courts have been making it troublesome for certain counties which have been trying to repudiate bonds granted in aid of railroads. The latest case is that of Franklin county, Missouri, against whose officers a court of the United States has issued an order requiring them to levy a special tax to pay outstanding bonds as the county agreed to do, or go to jail for contempt. The officers are in a quandary about the matter. They do not relish the idea of going to jail, and if the order is obeyed the people of the county threaten to drive them from the county or take their lives. It is understood they will choose imprisonment rather than death, as almost anybody would under the circumstance. But the lesson will be taught if a people do not wish to pay such obligations they should not incur them.

Gen. Sherman, in some remarks made in Kansas the other day, spoke of the reclamation of that state from the Indians, saying, among other things, "I am very glad they are gone, and I don't care very much where." For this remark the ancient John Beeson, of whom Oregon erewhile had some knowledge, [illegible] New York Sun. Most people, however, will agree with Gen. Sherman that a million civilized people in Kansas are better than twenty thousand wretched savages.

The vitality of Deadwood rivals that of Chicago and the new city will excel the old in beauty and durability as the present Chicago excels the marsh hovels of 1840. The rapidity of Deadwood's recovery is only limited by the supply of material and labor. It is expected, however, that the city will reach its former dimensions, with much more than its former durability, in six months from the date of the fire.

The annual report of the postmaster general shows the number of postoffices in the United States to be 40,572, at the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1879. Since 1870 the increase has been nearly fourteen hundred annually.

BORN.

Great Auction Sale
OF
BLOODED STALLIONS
CARRIAGES,
Buggies, Harness, Etc.

Wednesday, Oct. 15, 1879,
At 10 o'clock A. M.
In front of B. B. Acker's Stable,
Second St., bet. Stark and Washington.

We will offer for sale to the highest bidder, the celebrated

PATCHEN STALLIONS,
SAN FRANCISCO PATCHEN and
ROBERT E. LEE.

"San Francisco Patchen" is a dark bay, 16 hands high, 10 years old, weighing 1175 pounds; by Geo. M. Patchen, Junior; dam, Jane Ogoby, sister to Stockbridge Chief, the sire of Abe Edgington; trotting record, 2:28½, and is pronounced by all horsemen a true type of the Patchen horse, he being a half-brother to Sam Purdy, who has a record of 2:20½, of whom he is almost an exact counterpart, and can show a trotting gait of 2:30 or better.

"Robert E. Lee," by San Francisco Patchen (the above horse); dam, thoroughbred mare Fleets, by Old Belmont, is 5 years old, a beautiful chestnut sorrel, 15½ hands high, and can trot in 2:40 or better.

Both of the above horses are fully guaranteed sure foal-getters and as represented.

At same time and place,

A Pair of Bay Geldings,

Four and five years old, 16 hands high, kind, sound and gentle; have been worked double; sired by Norwich.

Also, to close consignment of HOLCOMB BROS. & Co's

CARRIAGES:
1 Elegant Top Rockaway, four seated, full leather trimmed.
1 Hooker-Top Buggy.
1 Yacht-Body Top Buggy.
1 Falling-Top Phaeton.
1 Open Piano-Box Buggy.
1 Four-Seat Piano Box Open Carriage.
1 Four-Seat Piano Box Beach Wagon.

All of the above Carriages will be sold under a

FULL GUARANTY FOR ONE YEAR,

As they are not auction goods, and are sold only to close our Oregon business for the year.

FOUR MONTHS' TIME

Will be given on good indorsed paper, drawing interest at the rate of one per cent. per month.

The above horses and carriages may be seen at Acker's Stable any time previous to day of sale.

MONDAY MORNING OCTOBER 1[illegible]

WAITING FOR GRANT

Grant has been called our Cæsar [illegible] He returns from foreign lands not to meet hostility gathered armies and fierce battles nor to plunge as a partisan into the war of political factions If since his return his name has been coupled with any political scheme no one can say that it has been of his seeking Our people are about to welcome him as an eminent citizen who has served his country in the highest stations military and civil, and no one among us will permit any political or partisan feeling to obtrude itself on the occasion General Grant was here twenty-six years ago His return no doubt is mainly due to an interest in the northwest which survives in his recollections of his sojourn here many years ago The welcome which greets him here will go therefore beyond the formal welcome accorded to an illustrious guest He visits a locality which receives him as an old acquaintance and the fact that he was on duty here though long ago, adds familiarity to his visit in the general mind, as doubtless it will in his own

If our greeting of General Grant is less showy than that accorded him at San Francisco, it will not be less cordial and generous All are entitled to take an interest in his arrival among us, because his achievements and his fame may justly be called the property of the whole people He has permitted no crowd of intriguers to claim him and in the receptions he has so far received all manner of politicians and politics have been happily conspicuous by their absence It is his great and acknowledged services, beyond the power of envy to decry, which bring to him this universal tribute from his countrymen It is, on their part, a wholly sincere and disinterested welcome If there be any interested intriguers or "boomers," let them slink out of sight, as they must before the unobtrusive common sense and a generous popular enthusiasm

In several of the great states there is now a degree of political activity which is not surpassed even when a presidential election is pending. Ohio was never, perhaps more thoroughly canvassed than it has been during the last two months. Both parties are putting forth uncommon exertions The unknown quantity is the vote of the nationals or greenbackers. Should it be cast mainly for the democratic candidates there would be strong probability of democratic success But should the greenbackers stick to their own ticket, there could be no doubt of a sweeping republican victory. Republicans do not hope to get any part of the greenback vote, but they do naturally feel an interest in seeing it withheld from the democrats The legislative districts have been so gerrymandered as to give the democratic party an immense advantage in the contest for control of that body. Last year though the republicans had a plurality of nearly 11,000 on the congressional vote of the state, yet the democrats got a majority of the members, and as the congressional districts were gerrymandered for that election, so the legislative districts have been "fixed" for this Unless the republicans have a majority for their general ticket mounting up towards 20,000, it is considered very doubtful whether they will get a majority in the legislature. Thurman's friends are making a mighty effort to prevent him from being engulfed in political oblivion as he would be should his party lose both their state ticket and the legislature To morrow the election will be held.

In New York it is a contest to the death between two democratic factions. Each has staked its all upon an effort to crush the other. Tammany is determined to destroy Tilden, and Tilden is equally determined to destroy Tammany It is admitted that John Kelly holds the balance of the great Tammany vote, and that all efforts to shake it have so far been vain. Late dispatches report the Herald as declaring that if Kelly accomplishes all he aims at in this election, Tilden will be an impossible candidate, since Kelly's ability to defeat Robinson would be regarded as proof that he had the ability and will to defeat Tilden. The Sun says, "We expect to see John Kelly poll a large vote, but it seems to us that it will be like the last exercise of Samson's strength. The pillars and a man of giant strength will fall together in one common ruin. The defeat of Robinson and the final destruction of Tammany will be linked together in one common event." The World and Brooklyn Eagle, on the contrary, have no fears of such a result, and confidently believe that Robinson will be chosen over Cornell, even without the usual great democratic majority thrown in the city Still another account says Tilden is not hopeful of the result; but he does expect now to destroy the power of Tammany, and though his presidential hopes may be annihilated through this warfare, he will consider the destruction of his Tammany enemies as some equivalent A most singular thing in this fight is the attitude of the World. It is unsparing in its condemnation of both Tilden and Tammany and yet supports with great earnestness Tilden's man Robinson. It represents Tilden as determined to ruin the party if he cannot rule it, and asserts that his great champion, Montgomery Blair, is going about declaring openly that if Tilden is not nominated again for the presidency he will play over again the part played by Van Buren in 1848.

There can be no doubt that Tilden recently declared that southern lawlessness and repudiation were doing the democratic party immense injury in the north and that in consequence it had become extremely doubtful whether the party could elect any candidate next year. This has enraged southern leaders, who say that he need not trouble himself about democratic weakness north or wickedness south, since he will not be again called on to lead the party But he is not troubled by any threat of this kind as he knows he can have the nomination if he wants it. If he thinks fit to be a bidder nobody can bid with any success against him There is not another candidate whose resources equal his own, and he knows that at his call the boys will rally round the barrel [illegible] the battle cry of Tilden

In Iowa and Missouri the United States courts have been making it troublesome for certain counties which have been trying to repudiate bonds granted in aid of railroads The latest case is that of Franklin county Missouri, against whose officers a court of the United States has issued an order requiring them to levy a special tax to pay outstanding bonds as the county agreed to do or go to jail for contempt. The officers are in a quandary about the matter They do not enjoy the idea of going to jail and if they had obeyed the people of the county threatened to drive them from the county or take their lives. It is understood they will choose imprisonment rather than death as almost anybody would under the circumstance But the lesson will be taught if a people do not wish to pay such obligations they should not incur them.

Gen. Sherman, in some remarks made in Kansas the other day, spoke of the reclamation of that state from the Indians saying, among other things, "I am very glad they are gone, and I don't care very much where." For this remark the ancient John Beeson, of whom Oregon awhile had some knowledge, [illegible] New York [illegible] Most people however will agree with Gen. Sherman that a [illegible] civilized people in Kansas are better than twenty to [illegible] a [illegible] wretched savages

The vitality of Deadwood rivals that of Chicago and the new city will excel the old in beauty and durability as the present Chicago excels the marsh hovels of 1840 The rapidity of Deadwood's recovery is only limited by the supply of material and labor It is expected however that the city will reach its former dimensions with much more than its former durability, in six months from the date of the fire

The annual report of the postmaster general shows the number of postoffices in the United States to be 4[illegible] at the end of the fiscal year June 30 18[illegible] Since 18[illegible]0 the increase has been nearly fourteen hundred annually

THE STEAMER "ST. PAUL."

Last evening just as it was growing dark people at Astoria supposed they saw a steamer coming in over the bar, and the report was telegraphed that it was the St. Paul. But she did not come on up to Astoria, and it was supposed that the weather had become so thick that she had anchored somewhere inside Fort Stevens. But at nine o'clock THE OREGONIAN'S correspondent at Astoria telegraphed that the St. Paul was not in sight at Point Adams lighthouse at six o'clock, which was just dark; so we may suppose she did not get in last night. It is probable that early this morning if she is not in sight steamers will go outside and wait for her off the bar.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—12:35 A. M.—Indications, occasional rain followed by clearing weather.

HANDEL AND HAYDN SOCIETY REHEARSAL.

The Chorus and Orchestra are requested to be in their seats by half past seven o'clock this evening, without fail, for rehearsal, as it may be the last one possible before the Concert.

CITY.

ACCIDENTAL DROWNING.—About 8:30 o'clock [illegible] James Ellison, a young man well and favorably known in this city, was drowned at White's Landing, in a slough about [illegible] miles from the mouth of the Willamette. Mr. Ellison had charge of the Columbia City at the time of the sad occurrence. As near as could be obtained, the following are the circumstances of the drowning. The little steamer Hydra had towed the [illegible] to White's Landing and had just stopped [illegible] Ellison called out from the [illegible] to the man to get a tow line. While [illegible] engaged in this, some twenty feet [illegible] he stumbled over the anchor [illegible] feet of water, without making a [illegible] other than the splash and disappeared. [illegible] the man thought he had thrown over [illegible] but on going to where Ellison [illegible] standing found that he was missing. His hat was floating near by on the [illegible]. The deceased has resided in this city [illegible] time and is known to be a hard [illegible] and upright young man. Only 4 [illegible] ago he married. Efforts are being made to recover the body, but as yet [illegible]. At the time of the accident, he had on an oil cloth coat and pantaloons and gumboots.

[illegible] MESSIAH.—As it is definitely settled [illegible] General Grant will not arrive until to-morrow (Tuesday), the grand concert which [illegible] given in honor of that distinguished [illegible] has been postponed until Thursday. [illegible] has been selected as the place, [illegible] grand sacred oratorio of "Messiah" [illegible] to be produced. The subscribing [illegible] being already selected their seats, [illegible] remaining ones will be placed at the disposal of the public after 9 o'clock this morning. The gallery will be entirely renovated [illegible] accommodate on cushioned seats one [illegible] and fifty, every seat having a full [illegible] hall and stage; and there are therefore [illegible] two hundred and fifty desirable [illegible]. Box office at D. W. Prentice [illegible].

[illegible] CARS.—Eight freight cars [illegible] been completed at the machine [illegible] the Western Oregon railroad, and [illegible] transferred to the west side of the [illegible] brought on the ferry boat [illegible] of F street. A track has been [illegible] the pontoon up to the middle of [illegible] on which the cars are drawn up [illegible] by horses. At the top a turn [illegible] been placed, and the cars are [illegible] on the main track at the depot. [illegible] were brought over yesterday, [illegible] remainder will be transferred to-day.

[illegible].—From Sheriff Dickey, of [illegible] it is ascertained that four prisoners [illegible] in the Albany jail made their [illegible] evening. They sawed through [illegible] bars and went through an [illegible] brick wall. Their names are [illegible] John Clark, Frank Parker and a [illegible]. They were aided in their escape [illegible] the outside, who furnished them [illegible] necessary tools to dig out with. [illegible] served one term in the California [illegible]. The blankets in the jail were [illegible] the noise while at work.

[illegible] INCORPORATION.—The following [illegible] incorporation have been filed in [illegible] county clerk: "The First [illegible] Reformed Congregation [illegible] Oregon," duration unlimited; [illegible] its congregation and [illegible] in a life of Christian [illegible] all property $8500. Location [illegible] Portland." Corporators: [illegible] (pastor), John A. Fisher, [illegible] and Uriah Walder (elders). [illegible] October 7, 1879.

[illegible] invitation is extended to [illegible] party to witness the [illegible] play of "Ours," which will [illegible] immediately on the withdrawal [illegible]. The theater will be handsomely [illegible] on the occasion and there [illegible] to believe the invitation will [illegible].

[illegible] TO KILL.—Capt. James Swan, [illegible] bark Anna Maia, was again arrested [illegible] evening on a charge of threatening [illegible] preferred by J. D. Tulloch, the first [illegible] was released on giving a bond of [illegible].

[illegible].—The friends of Mr. Ashley, [illegible] young man who was thrown [illegible] carriage about two weeks ago and [illegible] seriously injured, will be pleased to [illegible] he is recovering.

[illegible].—Sheriff J. B. Crossen, of Wasco [illegible] came down Saturday, having in custody [illegible] named Ryan. The sheriff [illegible] home until after the arrival [illegible] Grant.

[illegible].—The steamer Geo. W. Elder arrived yesterday afternoon from San Francisco with a full freight and a large [illegible] of passengers.

CIRCUIT COURT.—This morning the October term of the state circuit court will convene at the court house, Judge Bellinger on the bench.

OPEN TEMPERANCE MEETING.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Notwithstanding the great storm of rain which [illegible] in torrents on Saturday night a large [illegible] meeting was held by the temper[illegible] at the Y. M. C. A. hall. [illegible] the usual preliminary exercises the president [illegible] J. F. Caples, addressed the meeting in the [illegible] characteristic of that gentleman's pub[illegible]. Doubtless moved by his able presentation of the subject and his stirring appeal in [illegible] of temperance, many were seen to come for[illegible] sign the roll, which we understand already contains over 3000 names. [illegible] followed by Dr. Watts who on taking [illegible] said that he meant business and would [illegible] in a business manner by offering a resolution [illegible] the thanks of the meeting to [illegible] E. Acton and THE OREGONIAN for their [illegible] disapproval of the action of those having [illegible] of the Mechanics' Fair, in renting [illegible] the pavilion for a saloon where intoxicating [illegible] may be sold. [illegible] reading the resolution, which was received [illegible] enthusiastic applause and carried unanimously, Dr. W. proceeded to deliver his lecture [illegible] of Alcohol on the Brain," which was [illegible] interesting and well received. He is a very [illegible] and somewhat eccentric orator, and is [illegible] known as an able, earnest and successful advocate of the temperance reform. After taking up a collection to pay rent of hall [illegible] some minor miscellaneous exercises, the meeting was closed with the usual formalities.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

TO THE CITIZENS OF PORTLAND.

To the business men of Portland: You are requested to suspend business during the passage of the Grant procession through the streets of the city so that all may be able to participate in the procession. The Street Car company are also requested to keep First street clear of cars during the progress of the procession.
D. P. THOMPSON, Mayor.

GRANT RECEPTION.

George Wright Post, G. A. R., extends a cordial invitation to all ex union soldiers, sailors, marines and the Mexican veterans to meet with them at their headquarters, corner First and Taylor, and join with the Grand Army in receiving Gen Grant.

GRAND ARMY BALL.

The task of decorating the Mechanics' pavilion for the Grand Army ball has been a herculean one, but the members of George Wright Post have succeeded in making it present quite a gala and pleasing appearance. Festoons of evergreens encircle it from the dome to the lower floor. The gallery is encircled with two wreaths with small flags interspersed, while the spaces between are filled with shields, representing the different states and territories. The west end of the gallery is reserved for the invited guests, and is handsomely decorated with evergreen and bunting. Here is erected an arch upon which is the following inscription: "Welcome to Grant, by George Wright Post, G. A. R." Above this will be a portrait of Gen. Grant. Around the words "Our Comrade" appear, Gen. Grant being a member of the Grand Army.

The work of decorating the pavilion will not be completed until after the arrival of Gen. Grant, as most of the flags that were procured from Vancouver and elsewhere for that purpose have been loaned to the citizens' committee of arrangements, to be used until after the arrival of Gen Grant in Portland. But they will all be put up before the ball opens. Twelve hundred chairs and other seats will be placed in the pavilion before the evening of the ball. Stoves also will be placed in, and every arrangement made for the convenience and comfort of all who may be present on the occasion.

Should Gen. Grant not arrive in Portland in time to be present at the ball Monday evening, it will be postponed until Tuesday evening, when the grand reception of the general by his comrades of the Grand Army in Oregon will take place in the pavilion. All arrangements have been effected with the general committee, so that there will be no doubt but that Gen. Grant will be present at the ball.

All who desire to be present without purchasing a ball ticket will be admitted to the gallery upon paying fifty cents for a gallery ticket. There will be but one entrance, and that at the east end of the pavilion on Second street. Gen. Grant and friends, with the citizens' committee, will be met at the end of the pavilion by the reception committee of the Grand Army, and escorted to the west end of the gallery, where all the speeches and responses will be made.

GEN. GRANT'S QUARTERS.

Messrs Zeiber & Knowles, the genial "mine hosts" of the Clarendon, are sparing neither pains nor expense in fitting up the apartments intended to be occupied by Gen. Grant and Mrs. Grant, in elegant style. A splendid suite of rooms on the second floor have been selected as the "quarters," for the distinguished guest and his wife, and will be fitted up in the best possible style. The hotel parlor is also being decorated in a style elaborate and elegant. There is a profusion of evergreens, flowers and flags, all arranged with superb taste and presenting a most harmonious blending of pleasant colors. During the sojourn of the members of the party in this city, they will all occupy apartments at the Clarendon.

RESERVED SEATS.

Reserved spectators' seats for the G. A. R. ball can be had at Allsky & Hegele's store for $1 each. Seats without reserve will be only 50 cents. The box sheet will be open at 1 P. M., and will not close until to-morrow evening. This will afford the public an excellent opportunity to see this distinguished soldier-citizen and no one should fail to attend the ball. There will be a number of the members of the post detailed for guard duty during the entire evening, so that the strictest order will be maintained. Of this fact the public may rest assured.

GRANT TO RIDE IN A CARRIAGE SPECIALLY MANUFACTURED FOR HIM.

It is a somewhat remarkable circumstance that the carriage in which General Grant will ride in the procession of to-morrow is one which was manufactured by order of the Japanese government to be used upon his reception in that country. Two carriages of the finest class were made by an eastern firm and sent by rail to San Francisco, to be from there shipped to Yokohama. Through the carelessness of a freight agent, the wheels of one of the vehicles were put into the wrong car, and could not be found when the time arrived to ship the carriages by steamer. As it was impossible to delay, another was substituted for the wheelless vehicle; and upon its being offered for sale a few weeks later, when its wheels had arrived, was bought by Messrs. Woodward & Magoon of this city. It will be drawn by six splendid horses to-morrow, and will then be used for the first time.

PROGRAMME OF THE RECEPTION COMMITTEE.

The steamer City of Salem, with the reception committee, will leave Pacific wharf at 9:30 A. M., on Tuesday next, to escort Gen Grant from Vancouver to Portland.

As the steamer cannot hold all persons invited to the procession, and ill-feeling might arise if some persons were invited and others not, the committee deem it necessary to state that none but the general committee of twenty-four, their ladies, and the military officers and ladies, and press reporters are intended to go on board the City of Salem from Portland to Vancouver. The Washington territory legislature are respectfully invited to come on board the City of Salem on her return to Portland. The return party is expected to arrive at Flanders' dock from where the procession will start.

ORDER OF THE PROCESSION—LIST OF OFFICERS—LINE AND PLAN OF MARCH.

The steamer upon which General Grant will come to this city is expected to arrive at 2 o'clock, and will land at Flanders' dock, between C and D streets, where carriages will be in waiting for the distinguished party and invited guests. After a brief address of welcome by Mayor Thompson, the party will be received in the carriages, and headed by the 21st infantry band, will proceed up E street to First, and will be joined by the 2d, 3d, and 4th divisions of the procession which previously have been formed on D, C and B streets, right resting on Front. The line of carriages will form the first division and will be under the personal direction of Col. John McCraken, grand marshal, who will be assisted by Messrs W. H. Aldrich, J. Bourne, Jr., Geo. H. Bonny and B. B. Tuttle, acting as his aids. The second division will be composed of the four militia companies of this city and several companies of United States troops from Vancouver, and will be under the marshalship of Mr. Sidney Dell, assisted by Messrs. W. T. Burney, Henry Ach and Alfred Holman. The fire department in uniform and with their engines will form the third division under the direction of Mr J. W. Fairweather, assisted by Mr. Clifford Coggins and other gentlemen not yet selected. Civil societies and citizens, in carriages, on horseback and on foot will form the fourth division, under the command of Mr. B. G. Whitehouse, assisted by Messrs. O. E. Sitton, Wm Burnell and E. H. C. Taylor. The marshals and their aids will be mounted and distinguished by appropriate uniforms. Each division will be headed by a band, the two city and the Aurora bands, besides the Vancouver band, having been engaged.

From the point of starting the procession will march up First street to Market, up Market to Fourth, down Fourth to Yamhill, up Yamhill to Sixth, and will halt in front of the Central school house, where the children of the public schools will be assembled to [illegible] high school will sing a national air, to which the military band will respond, after which four little girls, each representing one of the city public schools, will step to the carriage containing the general and present him with handsome bouquets. At the conclusion the march will be continued down Sixth to Morrison, down Morrison to Front and down Front to the Clarendon hotel, where the column will halt a few moments, and will pass in review before Gen. Grant, after which it will be disbanded.

WAITING AT ASTORIA.

Gen. Howard and Staff and the Territorial Legislature in Waiting—Preparation of the Citizens to Receive the General.

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

ASTORIA, Saturday 11 P. M.

Everything here as regards the Grant reception is in a delightful state of confusion and the more I have found out about it the less I know. The Elder which sailed four hours before the St. Paul, arrived at six this evening. Capt. Bolles says he had smooth water all the way and slight southeast to southwest breezes. The St. Paul, under the same favorable circumstances ought to be in early to-morrow, but those who know the ship say she can't steam more than eight miles an hour and will do well to get here to-morrow night. Some say Monday morning. The wires between here and Portland are down, and in case they are not in order to-morrow, and the St. Paul does not arrive until late in the afternoon, say five o'clock—well, the suspense in Portland will have to be borne with patience, and the example of San Francisco in keeping alive the enthusiasm imitated.

MOVEMENTS OF COMMITTEES.

The Lurline arrived to-night in charge of Capt. James T. Gray, having on board Gen. O. O. Howard, Gen. O. D. Greene, Capt. Jas. Sladen, Lieut. C. E. S. Wood, Major William Gouverneur Morris, the executive officers and legislators of Washington Territory. The following telegram of invitation was sent yesterday by the military committee:

VANCOUVER, Oct. 10, 1879.

Gov. Ferry, Olympia—Gen. Howard goes on steamer Lurline to meet Gen. Grant, leaving Portland at twelve to-morrow. Will probably meet your boat near St. Helens and will be pleased to have you and the legislature join him on the Lurline. Answer.
KRESS, Capt. of Ordnance.

It was received too late for answer last night. The legislative party started for Vancouver as per previous invitation, and on board the Emma Hayward this afternoon voted to accept Gen. Howard's invitation to accompany him. The Lurline met the Hayward in mid stream near St Helens, and took on the following gentlemen composing the party: Gov. E. P. Ferry, Surveyor Gen. Wm McMicken, Maj J R. Hayden, collector of internal revenue; Hon. T. M. Reed, territorial treasurer; Judge John P. Hoyt, Hon. Francis H. Cook, president of the council; Hon. Geo. H. Steward, speaker of the house; W. H. White, M. T. Colt, F. C. Frary, W. C. Porter, D. C. Guernsey, G. S. Dudley, A. H. Tucker, J. Dewar, D. J. Storms, J. H. Day, D. E. Percival, J. A. Perkins, H. Blackman, John McGlinn, S. W. Hovey, F. M. Rhodes, A. Snyder, O. P. Twiss, J. N. Baker, J. A. Taylor, H. Roeder, J. E. Gandy, D. B. Ward, Elliott Kline, I. Troy, Allen Weir, chief clerk of council, W. R. Andrews, enrolling clerk of the council, Louis B. Noble, enrolling clerk of the house, W. W. Newline, official reporter of the legislature, and George Brant, door keeper.

Most of the legislators are quartered at the Occident Hotel, which is overcrowded.

To-morrow morning at six o'clock, the Astoria committee, accompanied by Gen. O. D. Greene, will leave on the tug Canby, kindly tendered by Capt. J. H. D. Gray, for Fort Stevens and will breakfast with Major Throckmorton. As soon as the St. Paul crosses in she will be boarded by the committee, but whether any speeches will be made no one in or out of authority seems to know. The people here would like to have Grant stop for half an hour at least, but whether the ship will anchor in midstream or land at the wharf, or whether she will take on a river pilot, are matters of as much conjecture as the exact majority Charley Foster will receive as governor of Ohio next Tuesday. General Howard and Hon. J. B. Montgomery will board the steamer as soon as she arrives here, and fix on a programme.

As soon as the St. Paul leaves Astoria, the Lurline with the same gentlemen who came down to-day, will follow, and will be able to reach Vancouver at least two hours ahead of the ship. This will give the military and the governor's party ample time to perfect preparations.

Capt. George D. Hill, of Seattle, arrived to-night with an invitation from the city council to General Grant to visit the metropolis of Puget Sound.

PROBABLE TIME OF GRANT'S ARRIVAL IN PORTLAND

It is reasonable to predict that the St. Paul will arrive some time before 5 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. She draws between 9 and 10 feet, and if there is no fog can safely steam up the river during the night. The reception at Vancouver will probably be over by Monday noon, and the distinguished party be in Portland by 2 P. M. However, this is merely conjecture, and it is quite as likely that Grant will not be in Portland until 2 P. M., Tuesday.

The manager of the Western Union office promises to use extraordinary exertion to have the line in order by to-morrow night.

THE NEW MARKET THEATER.

This popular place of amusement opens its doors this evening to the genius of comedy. To-night the regular season opens, and the attraction is the brilliant comedy of "Saratoga," which has been carefully rehearsed and will be placed on the stage with due care as to scenic effects, etc., in the excellent manner for which John Maguire's management is noted. We understand the toilets of the ladies will excel, in point of rich elegance, those worn at any similar performance ever previously given at the New Market. This play of "Saratoga" had an immense run at the Fifth Avenue Theater, New York, and both at the California and Baldwin theaters, San Francisco. The play requires a great number of people, as may be seen by the following cast:

Mr. Bob Sackett—who loved not wisely but forever	J. M. Ward
Jack Benedict—a chip of the regular sort for everything regular	A. Sutherland
Papa Vanderpoel—a parent of the period	J. W. Wikes
The Hon. Wm. Carter—a relic of the old school	P. J. Wade
Remington, pere—travelling for pleasure but never finding it	C. Egan
Sir Mortimore Muttonleg—the pride of the Saratoga piazza	F. Lyster
Mr. Cornelius Wetherbee—(the old bachelor of the period)	J. McConnell
Mr. Luddington Whist—(the swell of the wells)	C. Allen
Frank Littlefield—(the lover of this or any other period)	J. Walter
Fred Carter—(the youth of the period)	L. Belmour
Gyp—(the waiter of the past, the present and the future	R. Beale
Effie Remington—(the belle of the Union, the pride of the Saratoga season, up to larks and everything awful	Miss Lillian Andrews.
Lucy Carter—(the bride of the period and the pet of the Clarendon)	Miss Emma Clelden.
Olivia Alston—(the widow of the period)	Miss Lottie Wade.
Virginia Vanderpoel—(the pet of the Union)	Miss Ada Deaves,
Mrs Vanderpoel—(the mother of the period)	Miss Henrietta Osborne.
Muffins—(an exile of the period	Mrs. Kate McLennan.
Lilly Livingstone—(the glory of Ma[illegible]vins)	Miss Low Edgar.
Pussy—a child of the period)	Little Dot.

Waiters, guests, &c.

Wednesday evening "Ours" will be produced with the assistance of one of the local military companies.

THE O. S. S. CO'S NEW STEAMER.

The New York Nautical Gazette speaks of the new vessel as follows:

The steamer for the Oregon S. S. Company, whose keel was laid a few days ago at Chester by John Roach & Son, is 310 feet long on the 15 foot water line, 333 feet over all, 38 feet beam and 23 feet hold, and of the same model as the steamer Oregon now in service on the Pacific coast. She is building according to the rules and under the inspection of the American Shipmasters' Association and Bureau Veritas, and will rate A1 for twenty years. She will have steam windlass and capstan, and her cargo will be handled with new and improved labor-saving machinery. She will have two large cargo ports and two coal ports on each side and platform elevators at her two main hatches.

She will have fixed passenger accommodations for 200 first-class passengers, and by the introduction of the Pullman sleeping coach principle of berths her smoking room and social hall will accommodate 50 more cabin passengers. The officers' quarters, mess rooms, galley, ice house, etc., will be on the spar deck. She is to have a compound vertical, direct acting condensing engine, with cylinders 42½ and 82 inches in diameter, and 54 inches stroke; six boilers, 12 feet in diameter and 11 feet long, with 370 square feet of grate surface.

She will have steam steering and reversing gear, Lighthall's condenser, independent circulating pump, and all modern improvements connected with her machinery department. She will be fitted with Lighthall's vaporising distilling apparatus, capable of furnishing 1500 gallons of water daily, at a temperature of about 60°. In general arrangement and appearance she will resemble the Oregon.

BOOKS AT AUCTION.

Five thousand volumes comprising history, biography and fiction, also stationery and a large assortment of fine albums. Private sale during the day at auction rates. Sale commencing this evening at 7 o'clock. D. McArthur, auctioneer, No. 126 First street, opposite National Bank.

Just arrived—A large stock of health, misses' and other corsets, and children's waists, also a fine assortment of ladies' underwear, jewelry, etc., at Mrs. J. M. DuBois & Co.'s, 165 Third street, near Morrison.

R. O. Janion & Co. beg to recommend to the trade Ind Coope & Co's India Pale Ale, and the celebrated "Pig Brand," (Guinness') Porter.

Her sisters, cousins and aunts were not satisfied until Abell gave each and all a sitting at his famous Gallery, which is becoming more popular daily.

Nabob Whisky is recommended by the faculty for family and medical use. It is pure and is the best whisky on the Pacific coast for indigestion, nervousness and dyspepsia.

We noticed that Jackson, 53 First street, has opened his new brand, the St. George cigar. They are fine, as are also the St. Denis and St. Andrew. Try them as you go to the cars.

DR. WARNER'S HEALTH CORSETS.—Mrs. I. M. Du Bois & Co., No. 165 Third street, sole agents for the northwest; sub agents wanted.

WM. SCHEFFLER'S ST. HELENA

SANITARY, VACUUM DISTILLED GRAPE BRANDY AND GOOD OLD EDGE HILL WINES.

Mr Scheffler is sole proprietor of the principle known as the vacuum process of distilling, by which the fusil oils are left with the residue and not incorporated with the brandy, leaving it pure and free from all deleterious substances which does and must exist in all alcoholic liquors distilled by the usual process of boiling heat. California Physicians have pronounced their preference of it to all other. Doctor Cox, government revenue officer at Cincinnati, Ohio, says in his report, that after ten years of close investigation he can safely say that very few, if any, pure wines or brandy are exported from the Old Continent to this. He has found none in his many analyses—that all are doctored before leaving France. The French Consul at Buenos Ayres writes home to his government that so much complaint is made there of the appearance of litharge and other dangerous drugs in all their French wines, that there is great danger of losing the trade of the Argentine States. Other proofs could be cited were it necessary, to prove the superiority of the best class of California wines and brandy. Orders from responsible parties, addressed to Wm. Scheffler, or Geo. H. Beach, St. Helens, Napa county, Cal., will receive prompt attention.

LIFE OR DEATH.

It is a question of life or death. Nature admonishes us by the loss of appetite, by depression of spirits, by a bitter taste in the mouth, that we are sick. Take Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier, as by its mild but beneficial action on the Liver and Kidneys it powerfully assists nature in her efforts to re-establish a healthy condition of the whole system.

NOMINATION FOR CHIEF ENGINEER

W. H. ANDRUS, OF NO. 1.

HALL OF WILLAMETTE ENGINE CO. No. 1,
PORTLAND, Ogn., Oct. 8, 1879.

AT A REGULAR MEETING OF WILLAMETTE Engine Company No. 1, held at their hall on Thursday evening, Oct. 2, 1879, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, Sound judgment and deliberate conduct in the active discharge of his duties are the pre-eminent requisites of ability in the head officer of a live and efficient fire department; and

WHEREAS, A fireman of many years' active service, possessing such marks of ability, who has served for nearly four years as chairman of the committee of the common council having control of matters relating to the needs and efficiency of the Portland Fire Department, is well worthy of the confidence and support of all firemen as a man who would ably and faithfully discharge the duties of chief engineer and successfully lead and direct the department in times of activity and critical service: therefore

Resolved, That Willamette Engine Co. No. 1 esteems Mr. W. H. Andrus to possess such worthy requisites of ability, and we, the members of said company, pledging him our hearty and united support, hereby nominate him for the office of Chief Engineer of the Portland Fire Department, and respectfully present his name to the consideration of voters at the regular election on December 1, 1879.

MONDAY MORNING OCTOBER 13 1879

THE NORTHWEST

The Willamette Valley

Wheat is worth 97 cents aboard the cars at Irving

The west side road now carries the mail through from Portland to McMinnville

The Dallas council has ordered new side walks to be built along the principal streets of that town

The west-side railroad extension has almost reached Derry the station at Colonel Nesmith's place

During a general row in a saloon at Independence last week Wm Carnel was shot in the leg by J R. Cooper

Some wretch recently shot and badly wounded a colt belonging to Mr T A Shane of Salem. A valuable dog was shot at the same time

Prices current at Eugene Wheat 80c per bushel, oats, 35c butter 25 per pound lard 10c, eggs 20c per dozen bacon sides 10c hams, 12½c shoulders 6c flour $6 per barrel.

Hon. Stephen Staats, in a communication to the Riverside, suggests connecting Dallas with the west side railroad by a branch to Dixie, and also the building of a road from that place to Salem.

The McMinnville warehouse men are complaining bitterly because they cannot get cars to ship wheat from that point while a dozen or so have been taken up the track The side track there is occupied continually with flats loaded with iron and other railroad material.

Dallas Itemizer. The board of equalization refused to reduce the tax on the railroad land in this county, which was assessed at $1 50 per acre. It is claimed by the railroad company that they are willing to sell the whole amount for $1 50 per acre but no affidavit having been filed, as required by law it was decided to leave it as assessed by our assessor

The Yamhill Reporter has it from good authority that the railroad company will establish a depot at the cross roads near St Joe for the accommodation of Lafayette and surrounding country. This will be a great convenience to that town, and will put many a dollar into the pocket of the railroad company, as all the freight and passenger traffic would go by river had the depot been located at the point first intended—on the bank of the Yamhill.

Yamhill Reporter, 10th inst Wheat has again advanced and again fallen a little in price. During the week it has once reached $1 04, sacked, but had receded last evening to $1 02. These quotations are for McMinnville, where we observe that no sales worth mentioning have been made. From Sheridan we have quite a different report. In the neighborhood of 30 000 bushels changed hands there during the week, at from 97 cents to $1 per bushel, sacked We have no reports from other markets in the county

Work has begun on the projected wagon road from down towards Forest Grove across the coast range and into Tillamook via the Dougherty river. This work is being done by the railroad company They have a lot of land on the route which will be greatly enhanced in value by means of the road, and are coming forward liberally on their share of the enterprise. The people of Tillamook, also have taken considerable stock in it, and from all appearances it will probably be carried on to completion.

Eastern Oregon.

The new Monumental mill will start up on the 1st of November or near that time.

Peter Cowran, a plasterer, engaged on the Umatilla House at The Dalles, died on the night of the 4th inst. of apoplexy.

P. T. Sharp, who lives about three miles from The Dalles, sold 1500 bushels of wheat to the Highland mills, in that city, for 85 cents, last Monday The average production of wheat grown between The Dalles and Fifteen-mile creek, this year, was 32 bushels to the acre.

The steamer Thompson, on her up trip to The Dalles on the 7th inst, had 220 white passengers, most of them returning from the city, together with two car loads of Chinese laborers, which were sent on their jubilant way to the new town on Snake river, where the Pend d'Oreille division of the Northern Pacific railroad begins.

Dalles Inland Empire. The Portland and San Francisco markets are quietly draining the pastures of their fat cattle—faster than we think they can be replenished. As the rainy season sets in the Barlow Gate and Natches Pass both get too muddy for driving, and then the O S. N. Co.'s boats have to carry the steers to tide-water. In the neighborhood of Prineville there are probably some 2000 head of merchantable beeves for sale in small bands. Out in Grant county, Helpenstine has purchased 2700 head at an average of $14 per head, in gold. Phelps & Wadleigh have still large bands of cattle about the Okanagan, from which they supply their Yakima herds as fast as they become depleted by drives to Puget Sound. A band at Stein mountain, owned by Mr. Glenn of Colusa, recently sold for an average of $13 per head, all around, without regard to size but there must have been a good many over two years old to have realized that figure.

Southern Oregon.

A good deal of fencing has been burned in Douglas county through carelessness in burning stubble fields.

Recently rains have wet the ground sufficiently to be in good plowing order, and farmers of Willamette valley, as well as those of Umpqua, are plowing, not by the acre, but by the hundreds of acres. Some of the land is being sown, and no doubt a greater proportion than was ever sown before in the fall will be put in, as rust never injures fall-sown grain.

An important suit in ejectment has been commenced in the U. S. circuit court by Mr H. H. Luse, against the following parties owning land in and about the town of Marshfield, on Coos Bay; F. Mark, A. Lobree, John Tapper, J. Kruse, Isaiah Hacker, W F. Hill, Daniel Kronenburg, W. H. Noble, C W. Towne, C. Leahly, G. Stauf, W Lund, A. Nasburg, Wm. Christianson, G Watson, C B. Golden, John Kenyon, William Worden Jonathan Osborne, et al, David Young, J. J. Canfield, Roderick Millage, Frank Lingren, Wm. Richart, O. C. Smith, O Ralston, George Webster, J. M. Siglin, David Campbell, Lyman M. Noble, W G Webster, Gus Rayman, J. C. Bull, George Guy, Thomas Hunt, Hans Reid, George Davis, Geo Blood, A. Rains, et al, and A. Nasburg, et. al. The attorneys for plaintiff are John Burnett and R. S. Strahan, Esqs. The friends of Mr Luse claim he has a good case and the defendants have no legal title to the property Mr Luse is said to have purchased the patent of the town site from the original patentee, and the present claimants have only "squatters rights," and the fact that they are in possession of the land in dispute. Probably a test case will be made by the trial of one of the parties.

Washington Territory.

The steamer Traveler is bringing a very large amount of wheat into Portland from points along the Columbia river

Eugene White, a Clarke county farmer, has grown five onions which weigh 7½ pounds. One weighed nearly two pounds

The culture of hops over in the Yakima valley is becoming a matter of considerable importance. Marchbanks, Williams & Co have shipped 22 tons of this staple during the present year, more than one-half of which was produced by one man named Carpenter.

Read and Learn for Yourself

Many valuable discoveries and much useful knowledge is kept from the world, because of the immense expense in making them known to the people. This is not the case with BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP Although but a few years introduced into this country, its sale now reaches in every town and village in the United States. Its wonderful success in curing consumption, severe Coughs, Pneumonia, Asthma and all other diseases of the throat and lungs, was first made known by distributing every year, for three years, over 400,000 bottles to the afflicted free of charge, by druggists. No such a test of merit was ever given before to any other preparation. Could you ask more? Go to your druggist and get a bottle for 75 cents and try it. Sample bottles 10 cents

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the District of Oregon —In Admiralty —Matter No 8 1 The steamship Great Republic. Whereas Pierre B Cornwall sole owner of the wreck of steamship Great Republic did on July 1879 file his petition in the above entitled court, praying for a limitation of liability as provided in sections 4283 to 4285 of the Revised Statutes of the United States and whereas on August 1879 an order was made by said court allowing said petition and appointing J B. Stoddart Esq of Portland Oregon, trustee to receive from said Cornwall a transfer of all his interest in said vessel and freight in trust for all persons who may be entitled to the benefit thereof and whereas said Cornwall did on September 1879 said out his transfer to said trustee all his interest aforesaid now therefore in accordance with said order of said court, this is to cite and admonish all persons claiming damages on account of the loss and destruction of said steamship Great Republic to appear before this court and make due proof of their respective claims before the clerk thereof designated as a commissioner for such purpose on or before January 1 1880.

Witness the Hon Matthew P Deady Judge of said court, and the seal thereof affixed at Portland in said district this September 25 1879.
